Ken returned to the office today from his stint as visiting lecturer at the Naval War College.

[ ] handled a couple of telephone queries this week. One was from the [ ] group servicing the GAO investigators and involved two designators which turned out to be Army ones, not CIA. The other, referred to us by Regulations Control, came originally from OGC and involved the date - needed for a deposition - of the creation of the office of Inspector General.

Diane has received two more groups - both small - of documents requested by State Department historians. A second State historian came by to review documents he had ordered and to screen out ones for which he would not need to request clearance.

Bob is working on a review of [ ] book on Vietnam for Studies in Intelligence.

STAT

To set the records straight, we have not received a response from Mr. Casey on Ken's report on OSS documents. There has been no further word on the DCI and DDCI biographic handbook, but [ ] Public Affairs, has been alerted to expect the publications in the near future. Our copy of the McCone history has been returned from the Director's office.
